Foreword

We, the graduating class of 1965, wish to express our sincere appreciation to all those who have made this edition of the Proctorian possible. To parents, faculty, students, patrons, and advertisers go our heart-felt thanks. In particular, we wish to acknowledge the efforts of our photographer, Mr. Morris, of Morris Studios in Barre and our hard-working sponsor, Miss Krouse.

We hope that those who read this book can gain an awareness of the spirit of the class of 1965. We hope that all will receive the satisfaction of understanding that the things which make up a school are more than books and pencils and paper. A school is, most of all, people - and we sincerely hope that those who read this book will remember the excitement and work which went to make up this volume of memories and that each reader will treasure it as the story of a year and the spirit of a class.

In Memoriam

Robert J. Austin, Jr.

Bobby is a name for little boys
With little heads confused with curls
A name for boys who like to slide
And hide in leaves.
A name for boys who still believe
That Santa Claus is really real.

Bob is a name for bigger boys
With bigger voices than before.
A name for boys who walk with pride
Beside the name.
A name for boys who wear belief
On shoulders which refuse to yield!

Robert is a name they put on graves
Of little boys grown bigger boys.
A name for boys who didn't grow
Beyond bigger.
A name for boys who shouldn't know
The sterile white of marble stone.

Dedication

As we, the class of 1965, move from the classrooms of Proctor High School into our various colleges and occupations, we realize that what we are leaving is more than parents and friends; it is more than a community or a school. We are leaving an attitude. The short step from childhood and adolescence into the world of the adult requires a change in viewpoint. It demands an awakening of the social consciousness of men. For we are no longer boys and girls. We are men and women now, and our new titles carry with them the enormous responsibility of active participation in the world around us.

As we venture into adulthood, we realize, perhaps for the first time, the significance which our community holds in our minds and hearts. No matter how far we go we shall always remember our hometown, for it was our village which first directed our feet toward a larger purpose in life; it was our community that first showed us the way.

Realizing that any community has room to grow--that perfection is not easily achieved by men--we of the class of 1965 earnestly dedicate ourselves and our yearbook to Proctor, our town.

Senior Class History

In September, 1961, we entered our freshman year at P.H.S. At our first class meeting we elected Ronald Gyrofi as our president; Robert Austin, vice-president; Betty Smith, secretary, and Edward Baccei, treasurer. Katherine Kynoski was elected Assembly Committee representative. Our first difficult three weeks ended in the Freshman Reception. We were now initiated members of the high school. April marked the event of the class's first dramatic endeavor, a one-act play, entitled "Gone About Girls." Our big undertaking was our class dance. It was named "Memory Lane," and the theme was a flower garden. The year ended as we looked forward to being sophomores.

We began our sophomore year by electing class officers: Robert Austin, president; Ann Baker, vice-president; Betty Smith, secretary; and Janine Mayo, treasurer. Katherine Kynoski was again elected to be our Assembly Committee representative. Our first activity was again the Freshman Reception, but this year we were the committee for decorations. January began the second semester, and a series of meetings concerning class rings. It also marked the beginning of our second one-act play, "The Storm," directed by Mrs. Mahoney. Our sophomore dance was held in May, and it was named after an instrumental popular at the time--"Pipeline." The year ended with the usual routine of final exams, final assembly, and graduation.

Our junior year began inconsequentially, though it would turn out to be the most significant and heart-breaking year of our high school period. We elected our class officers: Janine Mayo, president; Robert Austin, vice-president; Jane Mazut, secretary; and Ann Baker, treasurer. Then came the Freshman Reception and Student Council elections, as usual. Our Sadie Hawkins Dance was planned for the 22nd of November--then, in one shattered second the world crashed in about our heads as we heard the terrible news over the public address system--the President was dead. The Sadie Hawkins was cancelled and the nation entered a 30-day mourning period. After Christmas vacation we somehow managed to pull ourselves together and again began to look forward toward the future. In spring we presented the winning play in the Junior One-Act Contest--"The Boor," starring Robert Austin in the title role with Betty Smith as his "leading lady." Our next big event was our U. S. History field trip; this year our choice was Fort Ticonderoga. On the morning of May 25 the usual buzz of students was missing from the halls. Tears streaked many faces--everyone wore shocked expressions. We had lost three members of our student body in a horrible automobile accident--Mary Hurhula, Diane Pomainville, and Robert Austin. The rest of the year dragged dimly by. The only "light in our darkness" was our Junior Prom. Basing it on a Grecian theme, we suspended long, crepe-paper columns from the ceiling and surrounded a pool of water with real flowers. As the year ended, we looked forward to our next and final year as seniors.

We elected Janine Mayo as president again; Dale Dwyer became vice-president; Jane Mazut, secretary; Ann Baker treasurer, and our senior year had begun. Many things faced us this year . . . Freshman Reception initiation . . . yearbook plans . . . graduation preparations. Our senior play, "Caught In the Villian's Web" was an enormous success. This year our number was reduced to thirty-one as Deborah Fitzgerald, Elsie Senecal and David Rice left us. This final year has been an appropriate finish to our high school years and has brought us many rewarding and educational experiences.

The Student Council must be an organization worthy of the students it represents. It is my belief that the students of Proctor High School deserve the best, and it is also my belief that they are getting it.

This year has been especially busy and fruitful. Fall marked the beginning of school and Council campaigns. Many promises were made--most have been kept: UNICEF collections . . . new voting procedure . . . VASC Convention . . . adopting an orphan . . . Brannigan dance . . . Abbott Scholarship Fund.

OFFICERS: D. Ojala, Treasurer; R. Greene, Vice-President; Mr. Abrahamson, Advisor; M. Smith, President; M. R. Candon, Secretary.

I am proud of this Council. The effort and co-operation given by every member has, without exception, been of the highest order. I consider it an honor and a pleasure to have had the privilege of working with these students of the 1964-65 Proctor High School Student Council.
